Thanks to generous donations from our community, The Sternberg Museum Science Camps are able to offer a small number of financial aid opportunities for the summer of 2016.

We are still receiving donations through our ongoing fundraising campaign, which may increase the amount of financial aid available. All aid is awarded based on merit and economic need. To be eligible, applicants must turn in the completed camp registration forms, a signed copy of the waiver and release form, the completed financial aid application form and any special required documents listed in the scholarship description. Students who do not receive a scholarship may register for camps at the listed rates, provided there are slots remaining.

The Sternberg Museum of Natural History is committed to providing excellent science education opportunities through all of its programs, camps and community events, irrespective of race, gender, religion, disability or economic status. Financial aid awards are predominantly based on need and merit of the applying student.

If you need information or assistance with your financial aid application materials, please contact the Education Director at dalevering@fhsu.edu.

**All financial aid applications require a letter of application from the student, which should outline why they wish to go to the camp(s) they are signing up for.*

Elementary school student letters of application should be 1-2 paragraphs. For the middle and high school students, this is the same letter required to register for the middle and high school camps.
